L.O: To use capital letters and full stops.

Today you will be learning about when we use capital letters and full stops.

Capital Letters

You should always use a capital letter:

- At the beginning of a sentence
- For the pronoun 'I'
- For proper nouns - names of actual or specific people, places, objects, films or book titles.

For example: Theo, Mr Fenton, April, Monday, Italy, Declaration of Independence, 'Frozen'.

Capital Letters

Which letters should be capitalised?

- in july i am going to cornwall.
In July I am going to Cornwall.
- my favourite film is 'despicable me'.
My favourite film is 'Despicable Me'.
- finlay is coming to my house next wednesday.
Finlay is coming to my house next Wednesday.

Remember: the start of every sentence, pronoun 'I' and name of anything specific needs a capital letter.

Full Stop

Small but mighty

Full Stop

- Full stops are needed to split up sentences so that we know where to pause.
- They are used when we have finished saying one thing and want to say something else.

Full Stop

- We place full stops at the end of statements i.e. a sentence which tells you something.
- For example:

Lara visited the zoo on Saturday.

- Nothing is being asked and there is no strong emotion so we use a full stop to show that the sentence is complete.

Can you think of a sentence which would end with a full stop?

Your task: You will be given a range of sentences with capital letters and full stops missing. Re-write the sentence using capital letters and full stops correctly, but make sure you also include your finger spaces.

the little boy was lost

amy has to go to the shop

the tree has lots of branches

in july it will be the summer holiday

i want to be an astronaut when I grow up

L.O: To write captions.

Today you will be writing captions for a picture from the video The Dream Giver.

The character you will be writing captions for today is the little boy in the video.

Include:

What the character is wearing,

What he looks like,

Where he is.

Don't forget your capital letters and full stops that you learnt about yesterday and make sure to use your finger spaces.

Here are some examples that I've written.

The little boy has black hair.

He is in a forest.

There is an orange butterfly in his hand.

L.O: To write a character description.

Today you will be writing sentences to form a character description about the little boy in the video. You will only be focusing on his appearance.

Remember appearance is what the character looks like.

Make sure to include adjectives to describe his face, clothes, weight.

Key words you could include

| young | small | hair |
|---------|-----------|--------|
| costume | astronaut | skinny |
| pale | smile | scared |

Here are two pictures of the little boy to help you. Remember your capital letters and full stops. Capital letters are used at the beginning of a sentence and also for names. Full stops go at the end of the sentence. Also remember your finger spaces between words!

Here is an example to help you get started.

There little boy has black hair. He has a tiny nose. He is wearing an astronaut costume.

Try to challenge yourself by adding conjunctions such as and, or, but.

For example: The little boy has black hair, and a small nose. He has on a white and orange costume, but no helmet.
