Once upon a time, there was a pixie called Pippety Skycap who lived in the corner cupboard in a room just like yours. Pippety loved to have fun and loved to giggle, but most of all he loved to play tricks.

One cloudy morning, he woke up feeling full of mischief. So, he put on his best blue jacket, squeezed into his spotty boots and set off to find some fun - hoppity skip, hoppity skip, hoppity skip.

Soon, he came to the old stone bridge where a grumpy troll was sleeping. "Now for some fun!" giggled Pippety and he pulled a soft feather from his pocket. Nearer and nearer he crept to the troll until he could tickle his warty nose with the feather. "A-A-A-CHOO!" The poor old troll woke up with a huge sneeze and tried to grab the tricky pixie. Luckily, Pippety was a tiny pixie, a teeny pixie and he slipped through the troll's fat fingers. Off he sped - hoppity skip, hoppity skip, hoppity skip.

Next, he came to a prickly bush where a ginger cat was watching the birds. "Now for some fun!" giggled Pippety and he snapped off a sharp thorn from the bush. Nearer and nearer he crept to the cat until he could prick her tail with the thorn. "OUCH! OUCH! OUCH!" The poor cat spun round with a yowl and a howl and swiped at the tricky pixie. Luckily, Pippety was a tiny pixie, a teeny pixie and he dodged the long, sharp claws. Off he sped, hoppity skip, hoppity skip, hoppity skip.

Soon, he came to riverbank where an old toad was dozing on a shiny lily pad. "Now for some fun!" giggled Pippety and he pulled a bright blue balloon from his pocket. Nearer and nearer he crept to the toad until he was right beside his ear. He blew and he blew and he blew until - BANG! "My poor ears!" croaked the toad and he wibbled and wobbled and finally fell into the river with a gigantic splash.

Unfortunately, Pippety had not seen that on the next lily pad was the King Toad. It looked at him with mean, beady eyes, flicked out an enormous tongue and covered him in a thick, sticky goo! "YUCK!" cried Pippety and he ran off, squishing and squelching and squelching and squishing all the way home. That evening, Pippety Skycap had a long, hot bath, snuggled up with a mug of hot chocolate and thought about his day. He remembered the sticky, oozy goo that had covered him head to foot and frowned. "I'll just have to be a careful tricky pixie tomorrow," he mumbled and settled down to plan some more mischief!

After you have read the story, take the time to talk about your favourite part of the story! Was there anything that surprised you? Do you have any questions? Use this sheet to help you.

Dear Friend

Yesterday afternoon, I was sitting in my garden enjoying the sunshine when, suddenly, a big black cloud came over and it started to rain. Guess what? The next moment, a beautiful rainbow appeared in the sky. It was gorgeous! All those fabulous colours! I was so disappointed when it began to disappear, but then I had an idea. Could you make a rainbow memory for me by collecting something for each colour (like wool, grass, a piece of paper, a bottle top) and sticking them on to a piece of card? You will need to find something for these seven colours:

-  red
-  orange
-  yellow
-  green
-  blue
-  indigo
-  violet

Here is the letter
Pippety has written to you.

Go for a walk around your neighbourhood and see if you can find objects for the seven colours.

Now that you have found objects, write a letter back to Pippety to tell her what you have found. Here's an outline to get you started!

Hope you had fun on your rainbow treasure hunt. Can you write about the things you found?

Today, I went on a rainbow treasure hunt.

First, I found _____

Next, I found _____

After that, I found _____

Then, I found _____

Next, I found _____

Then, I found _____

Finally, I found _____

I had a great time!

What adjectives can you use to describe the objects you found?

Here's a few key words you could use:

Shiny

Flat

Fluffy

Pretty

Beautiful

L.O: To edit and improve work.

Email your edited writing to us at:

learning@wembleyprimary.brent.sch.uk

Don't forget to include your name and class in your email.

No capital letter at beginning of a sentence.

No full stop at the end of my sentence.

Today I went on a rainbow treasure hunt
i found a petal.
I found a feather.
I found a leaf.

Capital letter in the middle of my sentence.

Today I went on a rainbow treasure hunt.

I found a petal.

I found a feather.

I found a leaf.

I have now edited my work, let's try to improve it! Think about adjectives you could use as well as conjunctions to make your sentences longer.

Dear Pippety,

Today I went on a rainbow treasure hunt!
First, I felt very excited because I found a bright, red flower petal. Then I found a blue, fluffy feather. When I walked a bit further, I bent down and found a small, green leaf.

Remember when you are writing, adding adjectives and conjunctions can make your writing more exciting for the reader!
